Making Decisions

Refer to PDF's for information about doing multiple card deck readings for yourself and your partners.

3-card reading:

Using Marc as an example:

What do I need to know about making this decision? What do I need to know about keeping a certain contractor?

- ◆ Card One (WOTO): 'Here and Now (P)'. Immediately suggests perhaps looking too much into the future about whether or not this person should stay or go given that timing here says that it might not be the right timing to make a decision like that. Might not be 100% true because we want to find out what The Enchanted Map has to say too.
- ◆ Card Two (The Enchanted Map): 'Stuck in the Mud'. At the moment Marc is stuck with this person but we don't want to be stuck until it is such time. Suggests haven't looked around to replace this person or have the entire information about the landscape.
- ◆ Card Three (W of HR): 'Eyes of Beauty'. – There's an expectation of something negative there, this is what's driving the choice. Does say} it evolves into disappointment. So the cards are saying although Marc is looking too far into the future, bring it back into the moment, take a good look around and assess the situation correctly. Do know that if it feels there's a lack of clarity and already don't have positive expectation, it's likely going to present what's expected.

▶ Will be doing the same kind of exercise in groups of 3 because then you always have one witness and there's always going to be an option that someone will show up to the meeting.

▶ Oracle cards reflect your dominant energy, hidden agendas and what you can't see. You want to be able to see the possibilities and you want to ask the right questions. Oracle Cards will lead you to ask more questions.

▶ We do the decision-making cards to see if...

a) we're clear about our questions

b) are we neutral

c) do we have all the facts?

d) are we seeing more than we already know?

▶ Ultimately we are seeing things reflected there. You'll have epiphanies. You'll be able to intuitively notice what's missing because you start to read between cards, naturally.
