

The Enchanted Map

HI EVERYONE!

Welcome to another deck overview! Today I'm talking about my third deck, The Enchanted Map!

I love this deck!! But, then again, I love all my decks! But this deck is different because it's based on My #1 Bestselling book, "The Map". In fact, I created and taught an entire workshop on how to coach, using this deck.

The Map talks about how we view ourselves on the journey of our lives. We are observers as we move through the different landscapes and places we visit as we evolve on our journey.

The Enchanted Map card deck is also a journey based card deck. It's as if you had a map that you could use to visit the places in order to explore yourself. You will also meet beings that relate to certain places on the map.

The three main characters of the deck are the first three cards:

1- The Bone Collector: This comes from an ancient fairytale called, La Loba, that I learned about from Clarissa Pinkola Estes, in her book, Women who run with the Wolves. The myth is about an ancient woman who collected the bones of wolves, then sing the wolf back to life. The wolf would turn into a maiden who would then walk into the sunset. The implication is that we can never be fully destroyed. The Bone Collector reminds us that we can always be healed and made whole again.

2- The Gentle Gardener: Is the twin sister of the Bone Collector. She represents the thought that everything we think, feel, believe, and put out vibrationally, will come back to us in form. She believes that all of life is sacred and will tend to whatever you plant in your field of dreams, including weeds. She is about choosing and discerning what you want to co-create in the world.

3- The Wizard of Awareness: He represents the observer self. He is a sovereign being, showing you that you have power but first, you must be neutral.
